More information about Lacanche hob options

Induction hobs

Induction technology has been used in professional kitchens for over 40 years. Induction cooking is still something of a mystery to many consumers, but the advantages are manifest, and new users of induction hobs will wonder how they ever coped with anything else.

Induction is fast, it powers up instantly and switches off immediately, making it controllable just like gas but almost twice as fast. It can take only seconds for water to begin to boil. Reducing the pan to simmering is equally quick. Heat is distributed evenly so there is less need to stir to spread the heat evenly.

Gas burners and a Traditional hob

The Traditional hob option includes a large simmer plate which is made from enameled cast iron. The simmer plate heats up thanks to a powerful 5kw gas burner.

Cast iron heats evenly all around its surface, thus enabling you to either cook, simmer or just keep your dishes warm before serving.

The further you move your cookware from the middle the lower the temperature – allowing you to simmer multiple pans together, and just using one flame.

Help choosing your oven types

Static oven with grill

Heat travels into the oven from the top and bottom, and without a fan to dry the air, the oven is more moist – ideal for traditional meat cooking. Heat will raise making the top of the oven hotter than the bottom allowing you to cook different items at different speeds.

Dual function oven with grill

These ovens allow you to swap between static, convection or grill functions at a flick of a switch.

Fan ovens are the most popular oven type. A convection oven heats up quicker and provides an even cooking environment – ideal for batch cooking multiple items together. A grill is also included for browning and traditional grilling.

Gas ovens

Always being famous for their high performance and recently improved for 2016 the new gas ovens now range from 100°C to 260°C. Great for roasting and slow cooking.
